CONTENT:

Gene transcription is the central process responsible for the synthesis of cellular RNA. Its regulation underlies cell growth and adaptation to changes in the environment.

The main goal of this EMBO conference will be to discuss and integrate the latest information in the field of yeast transcription, covering the entire range of topics from molecular biology to functional genomics.

REGISTRATION

Deadline : 15 March 2010

Registration Fee: 450 Euro

The registration fee includes: accommodation, meals, abstract book and excursion

The programme for this event was reviewed and approved by the EMBO Courses & Workshops Committee.
